What are the benefits of using Network America?

Financial

Commissions are based on the rates charged to the consumer: the higher the rate, the higher the commission percentage. Whereas the 1+ long distance industry typically boasted commissions in the teens, operator service commissions can be triple that amount for certain call types.

Practical

In many cases, you already have customers that produce operator services calls. Why not capitalize on that existing customer base and start generating commissions? It's easy and there is no need to change LD carriers. In addition, most of the "big three" providers no longer pay commissions to their customers for these types of calls.

Vastness

Network America offers its services virtually anywhere in the world; hence the opportunities are vast and lucrative.

Who is Network America?

Network America Operator Services offers access to its operator services platform, providing automated and live operator assisted calls originating from countries around the world. Our services are competitive as well as revenue-intensive; they are designed to meet the requirements of customers ranging from a single motel to large telephone companies. Callers will be able to obtain billing on collect calls, valid third party numbers, most major credit cards and many US issued calling cards. We offer dominant carrier rates with maximum revenue paid to the customer. Network America operator services are available in nearly all countries in Europe, Asia, North America, South America, Africa and the Pacific Rim.

Operator assisted calls will typically come from payphones, hotels, hospitals and universities. These calls are priced to consumers using, as a benchmark, AT&T rates for international origination and termination; they are offered as a service for callers who are not provided with the means to employ cellular or prepaid alternatives, or who prefer operator assistance.

Why Network America Operator Services?

Network America has been representing the operator services market for the last 11 years. We are a debt-free private company, and have built our reputation on carefully managed customer service and adaptive, innovative solutions. Network America is continuously investigating new revenue opportunities and technologies for its customers. This is made evident by the global partners we work with and the services we provide; Network America offers an array of prepaid card, 1+, 0+ and data services to help businesses cut costs and gain additional revenues.
